United Kingdom

London, 9thth—Lord Salisbury has advised Germany that the British Government will not allow any Power to walk over the arrangement made between England and Transvaal in 1884, and that foreign Powers must respect the British Protectorate in that country, as Great Britain would do the same if she were placed in a similar case.

The press continues its hostility towards Germany. All the organs are unanimous in applauding Lord Salisbury's attitude in dealing with Germany. The whole press of the Kingdom sides with Lord Salisbury, not a word of Home politics is mentioned in any paper.

The Manchester Guardian declares the time has arrived for the Conservatives and Liberals to leave aside all differences of opinion and join as one in upholding Lord Salisbury's foreign policy.

The Leeds Mercury also speaks in the same terms.

Mr. Chamberlain has ordered the Chartered Company to hand over all the arms they possess. The employees of the Chartered Company in Bulwayo have alread laid down their riffes.

The papers celebrate the termination of the Transvaal question.

The Times in referring to Emperor William, hopes that the present affair may be a lesson and a warning to him to abstain from such blustering messages and uncalled for conduct as he displayed in the Transvaal question.

A denial has been given to the report that England had entered into negotiations with Portugal for the purchase of the Delagoa Bay territory.

The latest news from Pretoria announces that the Transvaal Government has now in its posession proof that the recent invasion led by Dr. Jameson was part of a plot concocted by him, Sir Cecil Rhodes and others of high position in Cape Colony, to overthrow President Krüger and afterwards to form the territory of the Boer Republic into a British possession. In Pretoria the excitement of the Boers against the English is still increasing.

The news from Asia Minor is to the effect that encounters between Mussulmans and Armenians continue to take place and that the Turkish authorities make no effort to prevent them. Yesterday a serious riot of this class occurred in Biredjek in which 5 lives were sacrificed and as many as 50 persons were wounded. Many shop were also sacked.

The excitement in the United Kingdom about the Transvaal question and the articles in the German papers is still very great. The Times insists on the absolute necessity for a thorough reorganization of the system for recruiting the British army.

Germany

Berlin, 8th—The Zeitung states that England's bellicose preparations mean exercising pressure on Transvaal, and that the present question will become an International one. This organ advises England to be more careful and exercise better judgment in dealing with Powers which may turn against or stand by her according to the groove Great Britain's policy runs in.

This afternoon the Reichstag commenced the debate on the Bill referring to Stock Exchange operations. Opinions in the House are very divided and it is difficult to foresee the result.

The afternoon papers of the Capital and other great cities of the Empire publish articles expressing grave apprehension at the large armaments of England; and urge the Government to give serious heed to the warlike preparations now being made by that country.

The leading papers of the Empire look on the end of the crisis in the Transvaal as a triumph for Germany, and shower praise on the Government for its course in the affair.

The Reichstag was re-opened to-day. Shortly afterwards Herr Von Kranitz delivered a flowery speech on the Transvaal question, in which he warmly applauded the attitude assumed by the Imperial Cabinet. The majority of the House and of the strangers in the gallery cheered the speaker loudly.

United States

New York, 9th—Telegrams from Haiti state that fears are entertained of disorders at the elections which take place tomorrow. A conspiracy to overthrow the present Government is being hatched. Wholesale arrests, and confiscation of arms aad ammunition are of daily occurrence.

It is asserted that President Hyppolite will be reeleted in spite of great opposition.

France

Faris, 9th—Paul Verlaine the poet died this morning.

A fresh and serious scandal has just been revealed, which implicates several persons of the highest social standing. The authorities have arrested this afternoon, at the request of the family of M. Max Lebaudy jnst deceased during his term of military service, several persons on the charge of having black-mailed that youthful millionaire. Amongst those arrested is Viscount Ulric de Civry, editor-in-chief of the Echo of the Army. This startling piece of news has created great surprise in both political and social circles.

Spain

Madrid, 9th—It is asserted that the Cuban Question will bring on a Cabinet crisis.

A telegram from Havannah states that the rebels have set fire to the Limenar station a few miles from Matanzas.

General Martinez Campos declares by telegraph that he defeated the main body of the rebel forces 50 miles from Havana. The rebels lost 20 men and the Spaniards 25.

The defeat of the Cuban rebels yesterday at Ceiba del Agua, in the province of Pinar del Rio is confirmed. The rebels abandoned their wounded on the field, and fled, closely pursued by General Navarro.

Nothing is spoken of now in Spain except the Cuban revolution. Ex-Premier Sagasta was interviewed this morning by a press reporter, and said that the revolution must be crushed at any cost, as the Spanish people are patriotic enough to make all sacrifices to that end. The ex-Premier is opposed to the suggested removal of Martinez Campos from the supreme command of Cuba.

Italy

Rome, 8th—A telegram from Massauah announces the discovery of a letter written by Major Toselli on the field of Amba-Alagi to General Arimondi, in which that ill-fated officer begs for prompt succour as he was expecting the Shoans to make an attack in great force. The public in much impressed by the discovery of this despatch.

General Baratieri has stated that it is intention to assume offensive operations as soon as his reinforcements have all arrived.

Portugal

Lisbon, 9th—The semi-official papers say that Portugal will maintain strict neutrality in the Transvaal question, and orders to this effect have already been given to the Governor of the Portuguese possessions in South Africa.

Russia

St. Petersburg, 9th—The Emperor Nicolas has ordered the Marine Headquarters-staff to hold ready the best ironclads and cruisers of the fleet. This step has caused here considerable surprise and it is believed that such a squadron must be intended for despatch to the waters of Obock on the Red Sea.

The Novoie Vremya in its issue of today attacks Great Britain in a more violent manner than ever and harps on the occupation of Egypt saying that that question must shortly be settled, as the European Powers are now tired of the obstinacy shewn by England to withdraw her troops.

Persia

Teheran, 8th—Violent shocks of earthquake have occurred in the Province of Azerhjan by which the towns of Zaigbab and Goi have been reduced to ruins with the loss of 1100 lives.

Brazil.

Rio Janeiro, 9th—It is asserted that the Italian Government will offer Great Britain aud Brazil to intervene in the Trinidad Question, and try to get the matter satisfactorily arranged.

A fraud amounting to $500,000 has been discovered in the Santos Custom House.

The French Minister M. Marchand sailed for Buenos Aires this afternoon in the French steamer Portugal.

Exchange on London is quoted at 9⅛.

Chile

Valparaiso, 9th—The Senate and Chamber of Deputies continue discussing the Budget, which will probably be passed at the end of the present month.

The Cuban delegate continues his successful campaign through the country.

The strike of cab drivers in Santiago still continues.

The North American yacht Eleanor is coaling here.

Argentine Republic

Rosario, 9th—All business is wading through nothing less than a crisis.

The cyclone has caused great damage in Cañada de Gomez.

The cereal market is the same. Wheat fetches 6.50 to 6.80, linseed 10.35 and maize 3.20 to 3,25.

DEPARTURE OF THE SQUADRON.

The departure of the Argentine Squadron for Golfo Nuevo marks an epoch in the naval annals of the country. For the first time for many years the old moorings that doomed the fleet to inactivity in the waters of the Plate have been sundered, and we welcome the snapping of the rotten old cables as a new departure that will make salt-water sailors and confident and experienced skippers.

We must go back many years to find a precedent for such a displacement of the fleet. In 1879, we think, the old river squadron was ordered off to Santa Cruz to dislodge the Chilians. How the ricketty craft ever got there or ever came back is a wonder, for the monitors and gun-boats of that squadron were never built for Ocean service. The old generation of river sailors manned the fleet; they had little theory to boast of and not much polish, but they knew how to handle the ropes.

A few years ago the iron-clad Brown, cruiser 25 de Mayo, and torpedo cruisers Espora and Rosales were sent to Europe; the memories of that cruise, that began with the loss of the Rosales, are familiar to all and we need not harp on them. That squadron was commanded by a man of the old school, but officered by men from the Naval College—a new generation.

Since then the old naval element has made way for the rising generation, as the squadron that left La Plata yesterday for the South Atlantic is commanded and officered by what is familiarly called in navy circles men from the "Escuela," that is to say who have gone through their regular course in the Naval School. All these young officers are men of scientific attainments and their only weakness is a certain want of practice, call it also want of confidence in handling their ships. Regular cruising will remove this and other shortcomings that must be remedied by steady practice in coasting and ocean navigation.

Another drawback is the acknowledged inefficiency of the crews, the great scarcity of sailors, owing to the few inducements offered by the Government to enlist in the navy. Years must elapse before the Argentine Government can fall back on a sufficient number of bona-fide sailors to mann the fleet. The present elements aboard cannot be satisfactory and will never be satisfactory until the Minister of Marine completely alters the present system by raising the level of the crew and much improving the conditions under which they are enlisted; and then some years must elapse before the country can fall back on any number of good Argentine sailors to meet the requirements of all the new vessels that are being yearly added to the fleet.

We shall look forward with interest to the results of this expedition to Golfo Nuevo, and we hope that the Report of Captain Barilari will give a plain, outspoken account of all the defects that are inevitable in such a youthful navy as that of Argentina. One thing is certain—the Navy Office should keep the vessels constantly employed cruising and surveying in the South: it is the only means of making sailors of the men, and the Chief of the Staff, Captain Garcia holds this opinion. Costly though the system be, it must be carried out.

MORE ABOUT THE TRANSVAAL.

(by Stand-by O'Gorman).

The world is very small and growing smaller every day. No matter what happens in any out-of-the-way corner of our globe that contributes a topic of actuality to furnish copy for the hard-worked journalist, some one who has been there and knows all about it is sure to drop in on us bringing information, or to write us interesting letters or send us documents or pictures relating to the event. Thus we have been enabled lately to publish several articles on Abyssinia, the Queen of Sheba, Nasr-ullah Khan, Bray, Jersey, etc., thanks to several friends. The Transvaal is now the topic of palpitating interest, and we have already published three articles from persons who have lived in the country. To-dry we received a visit from a gentleman who left the Cape about six months ago, after passing nearly a year in different parts of South Africa. He brought a most valuable addition to our portrait gallery in the shape of half a dozen fine photographs. One was of Lobengula and his family. The King of the Matabeles is a fine-looking old gentleman of 22 stone weight and, as much as a black man can, resemble a white, his intelligent face bears a striking resemblance to that of a well known Argentine who however, has not halt his weight avoirdupois. The remaining portraits are those of African warriors and dusky damsels. The latter belong to the class of those mentioned in our article of Wednesday as sold by the Arab dealers at £2-10 a piece to furnish morganatic spouses to the cosmopolitan miners of the Tranvaal.

Our informant states that physically, the Boers are a fine, stalwart race of men, good riders and fine marksmen, and possessed of the greatest pluck. They are tall, bearded men, living much in the open air, mostly farmers or rather stockmen. They are so skilful in the handling of their heavy ox-whips that they can kill a fly on an ox's ear at a distance of forty feet, or with a cruel blow cut open the toughest hide. They raise little more grain and vegetables than are necessary for their own needs; the small surplus being sold in Johannesburg. Once that market of 65,000 people is supplied, there is no other outlet for their produce on account of the enormous cost of transport to the Cape. The scene in the morning at the Johannesbnrg market is a curious one: the huge carts carrying over two tons are drawn up round the square, the cattle being "out-spanned." The custom of the farmers is to atta h a few old oxen to their "prairie-schooners", the rest of the team to draw the full load into town being made up of young steers in prime condition. Once at the market, the latter are sold as well as the produce, and the old oxen drag back the empty carts. The country is most picturesque and very healthy. Johannesburg is an extremely fine town, with many buildings which would do credit to any city in the world: It reminds one of an American city more than any I have seen. The water supply is good, but very dear owing to most of the Municipal council being stock-holders in the water company. The hotel is comfortable, price £5 a week, everything included, no extras except drinks. It is certainly not a country for a poor man. The population of the town is almost entirely composed of "uitlanders" connected with the mines, but the ruling oligarchy is composed exclusively of Boers elected by their peers, who are the only persons who can vote. This is the chief cause of the present revolution, the foreign Anglo-Saxon element objecting to taxation without representation, after the manner of their ancestors on the historic occasion of the Boston tea-party. The Boers could give lessons to River Plate Governments in the science of inventing ingenious and vexations taxes. The moral character of the Boers does not correspond to their fine physique and animal courage. They are for the more part grossly ignorant, fanatic and cruel. The lack of schools is the crying want of the country. Not unnaturally, they hate the English, and in fact all "foreigners", not excepting the Germans. Their word "uitlander" which is the sister of our own word "outlandish" and has a similar disagreeable sense, is exactly equivalent to the word "gringo". Many English people attach the same value to the word "foreigner". They live frugally and spend as little as possible, their savings being always kept in stockings and not risked in banks. In their family relations a most disgusting promiscuity exists. Their women are not as fine looking as the men, being mostly of a coarse type.

What most disgusts the humane foreigners is their cruelty to the blacks. The latter are necessary for the working of the mines, and one of the grievances of the miners who have made the town is that their vexatious laws and rapacious cruelty are driving the blacks way. It is customary for an Induna, or chief, to come in bringing 200 or 300 of his followers to hire to work in the mines. These poor devils are clad simply in a breech-clout, a few have blankets. When they first arrive they are herded in a sort of corral called a "compound." Here their trouble begins; all sorts of taxes are imposed on them, such as vaccination-tax, health inspection, etc., etc. No black is allowed to walk on the sidewalks of the town. If any new arrival does so through ignorance he is at once seized and made to pay a fine of £1 or receive twenty stripes. This is rigorously enforced and forms a pleasant beginning for poor Sambo's life in a mining town. Once he has finished his work and been paid off, fines and penalties are rained on him as long as he has a penny, until at last he leaves town as poor as he came, a sadder and a wiser man in regard to the humanity of his white brother, the Boer. There are several English papers published in Johannesburg. Of these, as in the Plate, the most important is The Standard, next come The Digger's News and The Star. The journey from the Cape up to Johannesburg is most interesting, the railway winding in and out amongst the hills so that there are no tunnels. For a long time, the Boers, refractory to all progress and jealous of the advance of the English, refused to allow the railway to approach Johannesburg nearer than 50 miles. Another of the griefs of the mining population, a proverbially thirsty race, is that no wine, nor liquor is allowed to be sold on Sunday, their only feastday. This involves laying in large supplies on Saturday night with a result that there is more drunkenness than if the Sunday sale were not prohibited. South Africa is to-day the land of exile to which younger sons and ne'er-do-wells are shipped. Thus there is a very large contingent of young men of good family who have been reared in luxury, many of them having a university education. They usually loaf about Capetown as long as their cash and good clothes hold out; once these gone, there is no resource for them but to throw themselves into the bay, join the frontier police, or make for the mines. By necessity reduced to a healthy, out-of-door life and abstention from alcohol, their fine physique and early athletic training assert themselves and they form a magnificent body of men for frontier fighting. It is probably from this class that Jameson's force was largely recruited. The adventures of many a man in this band of filibusters would read like a novel of Ouida's. Though no such news has yet reached us, it is not unlikely that the Anglo-Saxon element of Johannesburg has revenged the defeat of Jameson and put a different face on the affair. Jameson beaten and Jameson successful would meet with very different treatment at the hands of the home Government, Sir John Jameson (if John is his name) would sound no worse, and would be no bad company for Sir Walter Raleigh and Lord Clive.

Paris, Dec. 10.

"Extradition d'Arton! Portrait d'Arton! Le Panamiste parlera!" These boulevard cries, which are still ringing in my ears, conveyed to the excitable Parisian public the news of the decision of the Bow-street Magistrate. Thus Arton will again visit Paris, a wiser a sadder man, and very possibly, as M. Bourgeois promised the Chamber, the equally infamous Hertz will cross the Channel in the same vessel. As a matter of fact they are both in the same boat. Still it strikes me that the ever-excitable Parisian, who rubs his hands with joy at the prospect of witnessing the public washing of the dirty linen of the financial and political world, loses, in his glee, sight of the fact that the extradition of Arton is accorded on the accepted condition that he is to be tried for fraudulent bankruptcy, an offence quite common in these days of commercial supremacy—and not for the corruption of public functionaries on which charge the ignominious notoriety of the arch-briber mainly if not exclusively reposes. "Il parlera" says the Jour, and thus the excitement, without which Paris is not Paris, is kept up: in fact it has been considerably increased by a collateral circumstance which, though serious at first is now invested with ridicule. In the course of the trial at Bow-Street, Arton's counsel, Mr. Newton, openly stated that the French Minister of Justice sent over an agent to treat with Arton and offer him a "lenient judge and a friendly pity" in return for certain compromising documents the disclosure of which might bespatter names and reputations that prudence and friendship would fain save from the tempest of public indignation. Could the shade of Yecker rise from the ditch where his bones have long since rotted, what a laugh, in what a Mephistophelian laugh would it not indulge at the spectacle of this Artonian farce? Yecker? I hear you say. Who is Yecker? But first let me tell you how the collateral circumstance I have just mentioned came to be invested with ridicule. The agent who went over to London to see Arton was no other than Monsieur Georges Lefebre, a well-known boulevardier and author of Le Faune. This gentleman on his return to Paris related to the reporters that he simply crossed the channel to secure an editorial victory by purchasing from Arton the "compromising documents" the publication of which would make the fortune of a new-paper. While Lefebre was exciting the admiration of the reporters with this yarn, the Minister of Justice in the Chamber of Deputies was refuting in tones of indignation the charge laid at his door by Mr. Newton. H.E. stated that Mr. Lefebre called on him and informed him that he knew for a fact Arton had confided the "compromising documents" to the care of a gentleman in London. Thereupon the Minister gave him a letter to Mons. Cochefert, Chief of the French Detectives, at that moment in London, requesting Mr. C. to assist Mr. L. in every legal way to secure the papers. The two versions appeared simultaneously in print; with the result that Paris broke out into a laugh, and all the papers hastened to deny any connection whatever with Mons. Lefebre.

As for Yecker, his memory seems to have rotted with his carcass. He was a banker who lived in rottenness, thrived in rottenness and perished in rottenness He was the Arton of the empire, and his name has just been revived by Rochefort in that admirable autobiography "Les Aventures de ma Vie." Yecker lent the Mexican Government 1½ million francs and received in return a bond of 65 millions "bonita operacion (á la Sud-Americana!)" To that infamous bond and the intrigues of its infamous holder we must ascribe the loss of thousands and thousands of innocent men. Furthermore it prepared the way for the collapse and disaster of 1870. With that fatal bond in his usurious and unscrupulous paw, the banker approached Morny, to whom he offered a commission of 22 millions should be by his influence enforce its payment. The Destiny that shapes our ends seized the bond and used it as a lever to upset an empire and as a scourge to punish those in whom the "auri sacra fames" had, stifled all respect for the lives, the rights and the property of their fellow-creatures. Morny, the miserable slave of pleasure, sighing for eternal youth and the 22 millions, died without touching a cent of the commission, and Yecker was shot like a dog by the commune, "L'Empire m'a ruiné et la Republique me fusille!" were the last words he uttered. Napoleon III, Morny, Bazaine and Yecker! They were well met those four, and they were well punished too, the throne, the noblesse, the army and the bank—the four highest peaks of society united in infamy, they perished in disaster.

Arton was a babe to Yecker. What has he done? He bribed a hundred deputies and senators and thus forced a venal legislature to approve a financial operation whereby Reinach and a small army of pleasure-seeking jackasses were enabled for a time to assist the irrepressible "rastaquouere" in keeping the demi-monde of Paris afloat. Reinach committed suicide. Hertz has shivered himself into fever and diabetes. Arton is doomed and done for, and the bribed legislators, with their empty pockets and empty skulls, live under a perpetual threat and drag out the existence of a frightered reptile, crawling from bush to bush. All this goes to prove that there is a Nemesis of a much higher order than a court of Justice on the Bank of the Seine, and Nemesis has overtaken the "Panamistes" and the "chequards" without the assistance of "compromising documents." Ah! That Panama business. It was the Scylla from which the savings of the peasantry have escaped only to fall into the Charybdis of the Mines d'Or—foreign securities into which the fear of home Artons and Reinachs has diverted the current of money, hopes and ambition. And with what result? Ruin, suicide and crime.

The tail of the serpent is over them all.

The dissatisfied peasant, impelled by greeed, blinded by ignorance, sighing for the luxuries of the nearest town; the work broken employee, the emaciated possessor of a few francs, who sees in the lottery or a high-paying stock the means of fortune; the whiskered lawyer, whose thirst (for gold) increases at the Bar; the retired "bourgeois" who apes the style and covets the magnificence of the great; the polished great, staggering under accumulating expenditure, the broker, the doctor, the brilliant actress or demi-mondaine whom Cupid leads through the maze of extravagance and who escapes with waxen wings from the labyrinth of debt, merely to perish on the "trottoir;" young and old, big and small, allured by the fascinating prospect of speedy fortune, all rushed headlong into these Mines d'Or. Most of these speculators have been ruined; many cling to the plank thrown into the flood by Rothschild; some have blown out their brains—all have been chastised.

Heavens! When one views this scene of desolation; when one hears the howling of the wolves gathered round an empire where events are perhaps at this moment preparing another pile for another Sardanapalus; when the loud pistol shot bursts on the ear to announce the extinction of hopes, energy and ambition; when one reads of the suicide of the milliardaire Munroe in his splendid palace on the Champs Elysées; when one sees the madman rush into the Temple of Laws and discharge his revolver seeking for fame, like the Ephesean slave, in the depths of crime: when one hears the prison doors opening ts receive the wrecked existence of the dishonest clerk whose losses impelled him to glide a surreptitious hand into the forbidden recesses of the safe: when one's ears are startled by the groans of poverty and one's soul moved by the spectacle of starving misery stalking in the midst of plenty—when one sees, hears and feels all this, there runs through the frame a Miltonian thrill, and the orb of the mind, if not of the body, perceives the huge form of a gigantic angel who, standing on the smoking ruins of human passions, human ambition and human speculations, fashions with flaming sword the stars into letters and the letters into one sentence on the dark wall of the sky.

Awake, arise, or be for ever fallen!

OUR LONDON LETTER.

ODDS AND ENDS.

(From our own Correspondent)

December 11th.

The Smithfield cattle show has this year all its accustomed attractions and boasts the largest number of entries on record. The town is filled with agriculturalists; one great prize has as usual been carried off by Her Majesty, and on the present occasion the Duke of York, quite a beginner in farming, has been sucessful. As you will observe from the following quotation the national loyalty is so strong in judges of beasts that people are getting weary of annual prizes to the royal family. It would be better if they did not exhibit. A morning paper says:—

"About four p.m. the judges commenced awarding the championships. The £50 cup for the best ox or steer in the show was soon awarded to Mr. John Wortley's beast, Lord Rosebery supplying the reserve number with his cross-bred steer. The judges were longer in deciding upon the merits of the Queen's shorthorn heifer and Lord Rosebery's cross-bred heifer in their contest for the £50 cup for the best heifer or cow in the show; and, curiously enough, for the second time a third man had to be called in, who sided with the judge who wished to give the cup to the Queen's heifer. The way was thus cleared for the decision of the question as to which was the best beast in the show, and here again the judges were unable to agree. It was Birmingham over again, and as at Bingley Hall, her Majesty was finally successful with her red heifer, which was adjudged to be better than Lord Rosebery's pretty little cross-bred, and so obtained the Queen's £150 Challenge Cup and the Champion Plate of 100 guineas. As to this decision, the least that can be said about it, was that it was received in silence. The Queen's heifer is a very nice animal, but to most people she seemed to lack that firmness of touch and that compactness of frame which characterised Lord Rosebery's cross-bred which seemed to present the "beau ideal" of a butcher's bullock.

"The sheep must be left over. Suffice it to say that Mr. Frederic Caddock got the £20 Champion Plate for two long-wools, with his Cotswolds, and Lord Rothschild a similar Champion Plate for short-wools, with his Hampshires. The Duke of York took the £20 Champion Plate for the best pen of pigs in the show, with his Berkshires, and thus for the second time yesterday a champion plate went to the Royal Family."

At a meeting of the Robinson South African Banking Company Mr. J. Robinson gave us a mouth-watering account of how he made his money. He said:—"The Witwatersrand was a marvellous country, and the gold-mining industry there was producing 200,000 ounces a month, with the certainty that this output would go on increasing. It had all been found too in the most singular way. He bought for £1000 a half-share in what was now called the Great Robinson Gold Mine, and he purchased the second half-share within two months for £12,000. That property was now selling in the market for £6,000,000. The Langlaato estate, which he bought for £6,000, now stood valued at £3,000,000; and the Randfontein estate, which he bought for £7,000, was now valued at £6,000,000.

Mr. Robinson tells us he was the purchaser of the first parcel of diamonds that came from South Africa. "Robinson", as far as I know, is not a Hebrew appellation, but it looks as if the Kaffir banker might be one of that peculiar people whose gift is to add dust to dust.

This mail will take you many columns of obituary notices of George Augustus Sala, the clever originator and one of the first masters of "Telegraphese." Mr. Sala died at Brighton in his 67th year. He had long suffered from cancer in the liver and had always a weakness in the heart. He was first taken seriously ill in June last. In November his case was considered hopeless, and in accordance with the rites of the Catholic Church, to which he had recently been converted, he received the sacraments. He afterwards rallied, and then came the final relapse. Mr. Sala was not only a famous special correspondent, a globe-trotter and descriptive writer for the press, he was in every sense an author, and as a young man such an admirable imitator of Charles Dickens, that many thought he would live to be his true successor. He never gained any such distinction; but he was an industrious collector of facts and incidents which he retailed in bright, if overcharged language. His writings were necessarily popular, as they were adapted to middle class sentiment and knowledge in literature, art and travel. He was above all a Londoner born and bred, though his father was Italian and his mother was a native of Demerara. She was a public singer and actress. Sala commenced life behind the scenes.

If we except a few less known but still living writers of the same kidney, Sala may be called the last of the Cockney literary school, made notorious and even glorious by every variety of talent, from Hood and Theodore Hooke, Thackaray and Dickens down to Albert Smith. Perhaps the very last—and long may he live—will be "Dagonet"—G. R. Simons—who preserves something of the true lustre of the London stones, which are not paste but real gems, if not all of the very first water. The last time I saw poor Sala was at a grand banquet given by the South American Club, where in one of his famous after-dinner speeches he spoke glibly of Popocatapetl and Istaccihuatl as if he had been born an Aztec. The speech was printed "in extenso" in the Buenos Ayres STANDARD of nineteen or twenty years ago.

An old, old anecdote of Sala was given in one of to-day's papers as "never before published" (!) He was once introduced to the well known pawnbroker Attenborough. "How do you do Mr. Attenborough", said Sala. "I have often had opportunities of meeting you, but I have never before had the pleasure of seeing your rags."

Any reader of the Weekly Sun who enjoys his Sunday morning's read of the "Book of the Week" besides many judicious, suggestive and genial leaderetles by Mr. T. P. O'Connor, will regret to see that in sordid matters of business this popular gentleman has been less happy. It appears that the two Suns when first started like many other stars, meteors and planets of the press, had a hard struggle with the foggy environment of the London mind. Mr. O'Connor, who had perhaps been overelated by his first success the Star had to send to a practical man, a Mr. Graham of Wolverhampton to look after the commercial department and general management of the Sun. So ably did Mr. Graham restore the fortunes of the publication that Mr. O'Connor offered him £500 and promised to transfer in his name 2,000 deferred shares in the paper and affiliated "Tudor Publishing Company." The £500 was punctually paid, but as some delay occurred in the transfer of the shares. Mr. Graham—a more practical man—sued Mr. O'Connor in the Chancery division of the High Court. Meanwhile it seems that Mr. O'Connor had transferred nearly the whole of his own 25,000 deferred shares into the name of his stepson Mr. Francis O'Connor. Mr. Justice Kekewich—another practical man—gave judgment for the plaintiff with a direction that Mr. T. O'Connor should transfer, and that Mr. T. P. O'Connor should if necessary concur in the transfer, the 2,000 deferred shares to Mr. Graham, and Mr. T. P. O'Connor was ordered to pay the costs. It does not appear that there is any appeal against the decision, and one wonders how our genial friend, who tells us he is fond of forgetting the sordid cares of life by frequenting concerts and dramatic entertainments, could have allowed the case to come into court. From what we gather in the defence, our friend must have thought, and we are all sure sincerely, that there were certain con dominio and pro indivisu elements in the question that fortified his pleadings.

LATEST BOERISH NEWS.

The Nitlanders have laid down their arms.

President Krüeger is loudly praised for having delivered Jameson to the English authorities.

The British fleet ready to sail for Africa will probably be commanded by Rear Admiral Holdsworth Rawson.

Great bustle and activity is going on at Aldershot.

The French papers have now taken a different view of the Transvaal Question by siding with England.

The Temps declares that no sensible Frenchman would oppose England.

The Echo of Paris publishes a sensational article by Lepelletier stating that England is the only free nation worthy of the friendship of France. The writer also declares that it would be stupid to help Germany in becoming a stronger power.

An article written by Count Chandordy expresses the same ideas.

Colonel Grafton has received orders to disband the troops of the British South African Company.

A telegram from Pretoria states that Jameson was tried by court martial by General Joubert in Krugersdorp and sentenced to be shot. President Krüeger put off the sentence until the arrival of Sir A. Robinson.

MRS. THURSBY'S SOIREE.

Mrs. Thursby's Musical Soiree on Wednesday night was one of the most fashionable events of the season. The house, which is well known in diplomatic circles, being the former residence of the Honble. F. J. Pakenham, British Minister, was beautifully decorated, and the garden "patio" exquisitely lighted with Chinese lanterns. The large saloons were thrown open, and the halls bedecked with flowers. Mrs. Thursby received her guests at the entrance hall, and the latter promenaded under the corridors, and sat amongst the flowers enjoying the charms of a South American Summer night. Dancing began when Mrs. Thornton arrived, and held out till the wee hours; the orchestra held the small room off the dining-room, and at midnight, when the saloons, garden and corridors were filled with the guests, the sight was a dazzling one. Mr. and Mrs. Thursby leave on Monday for Chile, and the Soirée was given on the occasion of their departure. We noted the following present:—

THE STEVEDORE'S STRIKE

A number of representatives of the principal lines of steamers which come to this port went to the Ministry of the Interior yesterday with the object of pointing out the serious loss which is being caused by the continuation of the strike promulgated by a number of persons little accustomed and less anxions to work, and whose object is to prevent those men who wish to work from doing so. The representatives of the steamship lines asked that the Minister should take such measures as he deemed advisable to put an end to the anomalous condition of affairs, and while appreciating the discrect conduct of the police whose presence has prevented many conflicts, they were of opinion that the Chief of Police might go a step further and give orders that all groups of men in the neighbourhood of Docks and wharves should be broken up when it is seen that they are in any way interfering with or menacing those stevedores who wish to work.

The steamship agents were assured that the Ministry of Interior would take steps in conjunction with the Chief of Police, who was present at the interview, to check any further attempt on the part of the strikers to interfere with those men who wished to work, or menace them in any whatever.

SPORT

SAN MARTIN ATHLETIC CLUB.

It is intended to hold a Lawn Tennis Tournament (handicap). Finals to be played off February 24th.

The events will be: Ladies singles by entry free. Gentlemens do do 50 cents. Mixed doubles 25 cents.

Entries will be received up to Monday January 14th by Mrs. Robinson or Mrs. H. Roberts.

The Montevidean Jockey Club does not seem to be in a very flourishing state, as we see that the Government has had to come to the rescue with the amount of the International won by Sebastopol.

There is a pronounced devil and baker feeling between the two Clubs here. The National Club has closed up its course altogether and will not allow access even for training purposes; whilst of course the Palermo course will be quite insufficient for the number of horses in training. At present, there being no races, the choke-up does not cause very serious inconvenience, but later on there will be a booming row unless some arrangement is arrived at.

The entries for the Flores Lawn Tennis tournament close on 11th inst. as will seen by advertizement and we direct intending competitors' attention to the fact, as the entries have come in so slowly that many must have overlooked the proximity of the date.

CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Before the public sitting the House held a secret one and gave consent to the appointment of Don Miguel Cané as Plenipotentiary in France and Belgium, Dr. Garcia Merou in the United States; Dr. Epiphany Portela in Brazil, and Don Lauro Cabral in Paraguay.

At the subsequent public sitting it was resolved "sobre tablas" not to insist on the changes in the Internal Taxes which had been rejected by the Lower House.

The debate on the estimates for the Finance Department was then resumed, and the following amendments made:—Increase of $50 a month salary to the Secretary Accountant of the Credito Publico; reduction of 500 dollars monthly in the amount allowed for printing statistics: reduction of $50,000 in the amount for buying machinery for the Mint; and increase of $30,000 for buildings at the Custom House in Concordia. In the estimates for Justice the amount for Inspection of Joint Stock Companies was reestablished; as also $9,000 for the "fallos" of the Supreme Court.

In the Ministry of Public Instruction a new post was created—Architect—Inspector of the National School-Board. In the estimates for the army commissariat Office however, a reduction was made of $800,000 and another of $100,000 in that of Marine. The salaries of the accountants in the War-office were also placed on the same level. The House then rose having entirely concluded with the General Estimates.

DEPUTIES.

Yesterday's sitting saw at last the sanction of the House accorded to the railway guarantee Bill with but one modification, namely in Art 1. authorizing the Executive to intervene to fix the tariff to be charged by the respective companies.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Transvaal news yesterday was hotter and hotter: not that from the Transvaal itself, but from London and Berlin. From end to end of the United Kingdom there is but one cry, that Great Britain must assert herself and let all foreign Powers see she means to stand no more humbug. The whole country, Conservative, Liberal and Radical, backs up Lord Salisbury, who has officially notified Germany that neither she nor any other Power will be allowed to interfere with the British Protectorate in the Transvaal. On the toher hand, the German official organs are threatening England about Egypt. Public feeling is running so high in the United Kingdom that some people are beginning to fear that the long-predicted general war is not very far off. Heaven forbid!

Yesterday Dr. Frers, Minister of Public Works for the Province of Buenos Aires, had a long interview with the Minister of War in connection with the handing back of old Santa Catalina park to the Provincial Government, now that the troops have all left and the Government no longer requires it for a cuartel or encampment. The Provincial Government will name a committee to receive over the place, and we hear it will be again turned into a Provincial school for farming. Better far to sell it to some of our merchant princes for a country residence. It was once the most beautiful park about this city.

Mr. J. C. Kennedy, British Minister to Chile, who has arrived out in the Danube, is staying at the Royal Hotel and leaves immediately for Mendoza "en route" for Chile. Mr. Kennedy is brother of Admiral Kennedy who was so long in command of the English squadron on this station, and who has such a number of friends in the Plate. We salute this distinguished visitor and wish him a pleasant trip over the Andes.

Our ghost story published in our last issue has brought us numerous communications about ghosts seen in all parts which we feel bound to decline. One gentleman told us of a ghost he saw in Navarro, and another who saw the ghost standing in the sala of his house in Almagro; but we regard it as contrary to good morals to give way to too many ghost stories. Once in a while a veritable ghost story may be allowed.

The feathered biped that rules Argentina's destimes seemed a little frightened yesterday at the general aspect of affairs in Europe and the tapping, tapping, tapping of the drum still going on in a gentle way on the other side of the Andes. The world is out of joint "from Shebe to Ind, from China to Perú."

We have been kindly favoured by "Porteño" with an account of the grand concert given in the Teatro Nacional in Chascomus on Monday night, but the pressure on our space is so great that we are quite unable to publish it in full. There were 500 people from all parts of the partido present. Miss Jeamimgros especially distinguished herself in "Tom Bowling" as "Doña Basilia". Mr. J. Spence convulsed the audience by his singing of "The man that broke the bank at Monte Carlo." In the burlesque, "Las Tentaciones de San Antonio" Miss Auld took the house by storm as Juana: her acting was simply wonderful for an amateur, and fairly surprised her nearest friends. She sang in a really bewitching way, and in the love scene with Cesar de San Antonio fairly "brought down the house." The whole affair was a brilliant success and lasted till 2 o'clock in the morning.

We recommend all interested in the science and art of war to peruse Mr. Archibald Forbes' "Memoirs of War and Peace," one of the most interesting books that has been published for a long time. The author thinks that Julius Cæsar would have made a very superior war correspondent, had his genius not been deviated by a bent for playing the protagonist in his own dramas, and Mr. Forbes's varied experience brought him into contact with so many crowned and uncrowned heads that he cannot fail to interest and amuse.

The whole town was laughing yesterday at the proposal made in Congress to sneak through the Sugar Duty Bill by turning the Bank of the Nation into a sugar-broker firm. Of all the "disparates" ever proposed in Congress this is the queerest. What will they say in London?

There was an extremely suspicious death in Calle Europa yesterday, rendered more suspicious still by the tooth—and—nail opposition of the family to a "post-mortem" on the dear departed. The Asistencia Pública has the case in hand.

Notwithstanding the sturdy denial given 2 or 3 days ago by Dr. Abbott, the Brazilian Minister, to the report that yellow fever was raging in Rio, his own Government has just issued statistics confessing to a daily death-average of 25 from the pestilence in that city.

We call attention to the letter from Paris in another column from the graphic pen of our junior editor. It is a moral pointed in sublimely eloquent language which our readers will appreciate.

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, the neighbourhood at the corner of Piedras and Mexico was convulsed by the action of a madman, a passenger on a tram-car. The youth in question, well dressed and Juan Auli by name, had some dispute with the guard and got down to settle it, revolver in hand. A policeman appeared on the scene who attempting to arrest Auli was forthwith made a target for a badly directed shot. Slash went the blue's "machete" on Auli's head as reply. Bang! Bang! sounded the revolver; but only one bullet found a billet and that not in the person of the vigilante but in the body of an innocent on-looker. Meanwhile a posse of brother-peelers had arrived breathless on the scene, who eventually disarmed and captured Auli though not before they had opened his head with several more blows from their hangers.

The Italian Hospital at the corner of Velez Sarsfield and 2da Cangallo was yesterday the scene of a sad accident. Four men were engaged working outside the building, 50 feet from the ground, when a cornice on which two were seated suddenly gave way for a distance of 60 feet, precipitating all 4 unfortunates to the ground. Two of them were killed on the spot and their companions were seriously injured.

The season at Mar del Plata is brightening up, the hotels are rapidly working up to the "completo" point, some picnics have already come off, and riding parties are the order of the day, or rather of the early morning and evening. It is a pity that Mar del Plata is so far off. Sea-bathing is a closed book for the great majority of the people of this great city. River air and fresh water bathing are very poor health substitutes for the invigorating properties of the mighty ocean and its pure ozone.

The Prensa published yesterday a portrait of the man of the day, who has given the world a far bigger shake-up than President Cleveland or any other man. Dr. Jameson is a good-looking man with that dare-devil expression of face which ladies like; and it is pretty safe to predict that the world has by no means heard the last of him. He mistook his profession, however, when he started in life. Wounding instead of healing is his forte.

Suicides and "tentativas" at self-slaughter are unpleasantly numerous at present, although the North wind is not blowing with any persistency. Perhaps it is the Cuban question, as most of the victims have Iberian names.

To make up for the death of the hippopotamus in the Zoo, a whole-souled patriot in Cordoba has sent it a present of an ugly "lusus naturae" with the head, tail and fore legs of a horse, and "vicuña" hair on the body, its height and length being alike, one metre. It is a fine subject for naturalists to wrangle over.

Of all the leeches that suck the republic's Treasury that too famous Artesian Well at El Balde in San Luis is the most persistent. It is a veritable "Balde sin fondo". The work of sinking it has now been going on for twelve years, but no water has been found. Yet the Engineers' Department has asked for another $4,500 to keep the work going. When the Last Trump sounds over the played-out world, and mankind will, "nolens volens", have to retire permanently from the cares of business, the sinking of this El Balde well, the works on the Riachuelo, and those on the Government House will still be going on as they are to-day. They beat lawsuits hollow in longevity.

We had a sudden fit of shivering yesterday on reading in the Eco of Rosario a thundering editorial attack on the private banks there, which are termed by our colleague "Useless Institutions and the Farce of the day". The head and front of their offending is that neither merchants, agriculturists, nor private individuals can get any discounts. Our colleague praises the local managers and says it is not their fault, as they are hampered by superior orders. We find the following "Ecos del dia" in our little colleague:—"For reasons best known to the organizers, the concert which was to have taken place on Saturday at the Olimpo, for the benefit of the Anglo-German Hospital, has been postponed until April next. It is proposed to make a number of india-rubber tram cars, the leading feature of which will be, when they are full they will stretch out and hold a few more. The Manager of the F. C. O. S. fully apreciating the labours of his staff during the past year, treated them to a 'dejeuner' on New Year's day. Mr. James Grennon left last week for Capilla del Monte in company of his esteemed mother and sister. Don Fernando Kessler, the esteemed director of the Sugar Refinery, has been named President of the German Club of this city. Mr. George Taylor's marriage at Cordoba to Miss Juanita E. Gillman was a most creditable affair. Amongst those present were: Mr. Duncan Munro, Mr. W. Perrey, Mr. M. MacCrindle and a host of railway employees and other friends." In reference to this last bit of news matrimonial, we may remark that we have never yet heard of a marriage that was not "most creditable" to all parties concerned, especially the happy couple.

Wonders will never cease, and our Cousin Jonathan supplies a lot of them The latest is of thrilling interest, as it will do away with the dynamo for electric lighting. A scientific contemporary describes the new discovery as follows:—"Mr G. L. Roberts, an electrician, has made by haphazard what, if all accounts are true, is correctly described as a very remarkable discovery. He was experimenting in his laboratory, and on the table was some sand, over which two wires had fallen across one another. By an accident a bottle containing a certain acid was overturned, and some of the acid ran into the sand at the point where the wires crossed. The immediate result was a series of electric sparks. Mr. Roberts has now invented a lamp which is charged with sand, into which two wires are run, which connect with an ordinary electric bulb, and a perfect electric current is established, which displays the well-known brilliant light of an electric lamp. The lamp will burn for 600 hours, when the sand can be renewed at a cost of 8½d. One gentleman who was discussing the discovery with Mr. Roberts saw a handful of sand thrown into an ordinary tumbler, two wires inserted into the sand and connected with an ordinary electric burner, which burned brilliantly. The generator is, therefore, the sand, but the method of charging it remains a secret with the discoverer, who has sold some of his rights for £16,000. Edison, the famous electrician, has seen the lamp, and remarked at the close of the trial that he thought he knew all there was to be known about electricity, but Mr. Roberts had made a discovery which puzzled him greatly. The great man was given some of the sand, but it defied analysis, and under treatment very conveniently lost all traces of the secret discovery.

We have received most courteous notes of acknowledgement from Mr. John J. Kyle, on behalf of the Anglican Church of St. John's, the Revd. J. Stevenson of All Saints, Quilmes, and the Revd. D. Mc Gurk of the Methodist Church, Lomas, for the free space given in our columns last year to their respective churches. The Belgrano Anglican Church Council, the Boca Mission Hall and the Victoria Convalescent Home have favoured us with like acknowledgements.

Six hundred people at a pic-nic is a large number to cater for. Nevertheless, the American Church at Montevideo did it with brilliant success last Monday, at Santa Lucia, and the guests had a high old outing.

The stevedores' strike continues at the Mount as the launch owners won't yield. The men have expressed their willingness to accept mediation, and have already withdrawn some of their conditions, including the refusal to work with non-union men. The launch-owners, however, are still intransigent and exact an entire and unconditional surrender. They, more than the men, are showing ill-feeling in the matter.

Ah Jonathan! The Spanish Minister in Washington has sent a consoling telegram to his confrere here, to the effect that all the telegrams about the King's troops being beaten in Cuba are manufactured there.

That monument to Kit Columbus may be erected before the end of the century, but we doubt it, unless Wirth's Circus give a benefit for the cause. However, as His Grace the Archbishop has now expressed his interest in the matter, the odds against the monument will probably be a trifle shorter. Talking of Wirth's Circus, the "empresa" sent round an amusing bulletin "de la Nocion" yesterday, announcing war between the British Lion and the German Eagle. Many innocent people bought it, read it, and forcibly expressed their determination to challenge the whole Wirth family to mortal combat.

ON 'CHANGE.

Thursday January 9th 1896.
Gold Premium.

First Ring	232.50%
Second Ring.....	232.20%

A keen bullish blast swept through the gold market this morning and caused a sharp rise in the premium, but the speculation was of a dead-and-alive description, only seven hundred thousand dollars changing hands. The causes of the sudden rise in gold may be traced to the bad news from Europe, to the heavy expenditure going on here, and to a general feeling of distrust. Day by day the news of fresh expenditure for armaments leaks out, and the natural impression is that the National Treasury must be severely handicapped and the exchange market taxed to its utmost to meet all these extraordinary demands. Last year we all believed that three millions sterling would cover all this military expenditure, but to-day we find that the figure must run into at least three times that amount. Under the circumstances, the prospects of any lasting fall in the gold premium are dim and distant, since the nation is plunging deeper into debt every day. It is most fortunate that a splendid season enables the country to face all this expenditure, but we are nearing the end of our financial tether.

Three hundred thousand gold dollars changed hands for cash at the first ring; the premium opened with a bang at 231.50 %, rose steadily, and closed at 232.50%. A small amount was sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 233.50 %, closing at 234.70%—always a stiff contango. A quarter of a million was sold for Saturday at cash rates. Business for end of February embraced eighty thousand dollars; the premium opened at 236% and closed at 237%. The turnover in gold at the first ring amounted to $732,000. The market closed with a hard, bullish tendency.

National Cedulas F were steady at 79, National C at 88, and La Plata Cedulas at 17.50. Spanish Bank shares were quoted at 111 and Catalinas shares at 3.30.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

There was a sharp snap in the exchange market to-day. One of the private banks stepped in and made a clean sweep of sterling bills. Continental exchange managed to make a stand. The market closed at:

48¾-5/16d. on London.
5.09 fcs. on France.
5.10 fcs. on Belgium.
4.13 mks. on Germany.

Paper money was again in stiff demand and rates hardened. At the banks paper bills were quoted at 8% and gold bills at 7%.

The many friends of Mr. McAllister, for a long time of Ceres, then of Ceres station, will be glad to hear that he has been promoted by the Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway Company to District Superintendent of the line between Santiago and Tucuman.

Telegrams from Rio Janeiro quote exchange on London at 9¼-1/16d.

Messrs. C. Zuberbühler and Co. are now definitely installed in their new premises Calle Rivadavia 820, with frontage also to the Avenida de Mayo—a splendid warehouse.

To-day's telegrams from London did not announce any change in the money rate, which is a good sign and fails to confirm all the sensational political advices wafted over by the cable. Argentine Funding Bonds are still hanging fire, and fresh shipments of gold to the Plate are spoken of. These shipments, however, hang upon our rate of exchange, and may be countermanded if our local situation gets weaker.

The new department created by the Government in the Neuquen Territory, as announced in our last issue, is bounded on the North by the Cordillera Huaidolf, on the South by the Rio Limay, on the East by the Picumfeofu, and on the West by the Collon-cura and Catantil.

In Rosario business is reported quakerishly quiet, no movement in anything. Mr. Thompson's barque Annie, which he leased to the Government for a lightship, sprang a leak and went down off the Central Argentine Mole, loss $6,000, and imminent danger of being the basis of another sand-bank like the Eva. In the centre and north of the province the locusts is as thick as the vallombrosan leaves, and is leaving a clean trail in the maize fields.

In Gualeguay the local magnates are growling over the non-fulfilment by the Government of a promise to send them a dredge to polish the river up a bit, and unless the dredge is very shortly forthcoming a commission will be despatched to jog the minister's memory on the point.

At Belleville the residents are smarting under a sounding, impartial all-round increase in the taxes both local and provincial. The recent rains have done a deal of harm to the crops and a large quantity of wheat was soaked.

Advices from Mendoza report export of live-stock to Chilian market, via Uspallata, at 2,824 oxen, 2,297 steers, and 442 cows. This shews what a good enstomer our neighbour is.

Mr. Kingsland Smith, editor of the well-known North Western Miller of Minneapolis, was welcomed on'Change to-day. He arrived in the R.M.S. Danube and intends spending some weeks in the Plate to watch our grain industry. We wish him a pleasant stay in our midst.

Advices from Asuncion announce that Dr. Paterno has presented his colonization scheme to the Government, the main provisions being free passages from Montevideo to Paraguay, 5 leagues of land in Villeta on the Rio Paraguay and 70 leagues in the district of San Pedro. all situated on rivers, with oxen and agricultural implements. The conditions are not considered onerous, though the Doctor in addition stipulates for a league of land for every 12 families established. In six years he calculates to have settled the whole 75 leagues.

The sugar bug-bear is again on the tapis, but if possible in such a still more impossible form than that patronised by the Government that the whole thing would read like a gigantic joke but that it comes with the stamp of a Congress Finance Committee on it. Imagine the impracticability of constituting the Banco de la Nacion a sugar clearing-house, so to speak. It seems ridiculous, absurd. The project is to deposit the product of the 4% tax in the bank, which then goes into the sugar market and snaps up 25,000 tons at a price not exceeding 3 dollars, the stuff to be placed by the bank in the foreign markets it may deem best for the purpose. In other words, the bank is to enter the sugar business as a regulator, but subject to restriction of price, and if that price is not practicable the business is done with. A sardonic grin wreathed the face of the market to-day when the matter was discussed. Some dismissed the project as too utterly absurd to consider at all; others thought it a diplomatic ruse of Congress—a wild, jocose way of insinuating the futility of bounty and protection, and none could find a favorable word for it. We were not far wrong when we ventured to hint, in discussing the bill on its first appearance, that there was such obliquity of economic prevision in this business that there was just a probability of its developing eventually into issue of sugar certificates. If the Banco de la Nacion goes into sugar we are not immeasurably separated from the certificate, and it only shews to what extravagant lengths things can be carried.

There is pretty brisk movement going on at La Plata port in the shipment of live stock. The Tower Hill will take in 400 steers and 1000 wethers for account of Messrs Erausquin and Co. who are expecting an exceptional batch of steers from Mar del Plata, 160 head averaging 750 kilos. This firm has engaged no fewer than 9 steamers to load stock at La Plata. which shews what is going on in this line.

Mr. Gath, of the well-known firm of Gath and Chaves, household names here, being the largest hosiery establishment in South America, was welcomed to-day. He has arrived out in the Danube but will leave shortly again for Europe to look after the firm's important interests here.

This week's Agricultura was handed round to-day and is well up to the high level that has made this well-edited periodical now indispensable to the farmer and estanciero. The engravings are: giant ferns; a palm grove in the Sahara which does not look at all such a dusty place as the champion desert is popularly and perhaps erroneously supported to be; a nook in the Tigre fully illustrative of the charms of Buenos Aires' most picturesque suburb, and "emerging from the forest" a pretty picture of the heavy lumbering bullock-cart with its patient steam clearing the bush and breaking prairie. The leading article treats very ably the advantages of agricultural schools and stations, whilst Dr. S. Gache has a very interesting article on our climatic conditions. We are glad to see our colleague every week "growing wisibly," as Sam Weller remarked of the ladies at the Shepherd's tea-party.

The gold market was active and steady at the second ring. An effort was made to force the market up, but it resisted and remained stationary. One hundred thousand dollars were sold for to-morrow: the premium opened at 233% and closed at 232.20%—weaker than in the morning. An equal amount was sold for the end of the month, the premium closing at 234%. Something was done for February at 237%. Stocks and shares were quiet.

The following is a summary of the operations effected to-day at the second ring:—

The Finance Minister has informed the Minister of Foreign Affairs that, as the Customs Law for this year has been already voted by Congress, it is not possible to take any step towards the reduction of import duties on coffee, cocoa and vicuña skins asked for by the Bolivian Minister; but due attention will be paid to the said Minister's request on the first opportunity.

The Executive has promulgated the Customs Law as sanctioned by Congress.

Messrs. Funes and Lagos and Co. brought to the hammer to-day the well-known estancia Las Talas, 1027 hectares in Mercedes, by order of the Court to liquidate the Braus testamentaria, with reserve of $130 the hectare, but there were no bids and the sale was abandoned.

Same auctioneers then took in hand the fine batch of Lincoln rams imported by Mr. F. Miller, which sold as follows:—

PRODUCE MARKETS.

As regards animation we can only state that were it not for the demand in maize the condition of our markets would be pitiable. Since the first of the year we notice a certain laxity in all produce, evidently the holidays have damped the spirit of competition in our fashionable artistas. Business is also greatly pulled down by the "alcista" feeling amongst owners of both cereals and wool: these gentlemen believe that by holding back they will be able to predominate over the offers of exporters: the result of this campaign is only too plainly seen in the conglomeration of all classes of produce in our markets and deposits.

Where the advantage comes in we are unable to see, as all sales to-day made by the consignatarios are only effected by the latter ceding to the bids of exporter. For instance let us take wool: what do we see, sellers perspiring trying to find anything like an offer for their parcels, and even after all their efforts how often have we heard of their transactions being frustrated just for a question of a few cents. As a proof of the enormous arrivals of wool we give the following table published by the Central Market.

	Railway	Mules	Carts
October.....	5,536,011	351,790	1,041,746
November...	12,650,454	1,898,860	2,042,316
December...	14,053,316	2,233,588	2,660,161
Kilos..	32,239,881	4,484,238	5,744,213

These figures summed up give a total of 42,467,832 kilos which if added on to the arrivals of the present month represents 46,000,000 kilos. The stock in Constitucion is calculated at 25,000,000 kilos, adding this to the former it gives 71,000,000 kilos, at present the stock in both markets is estimated at 12,000,000, consequently 60,000,000 have already been sold.

The sales in wool were about 400,000 kilos a prices ranging from 8.40 to 9.00 for cross lincoln and 8 to 8.50 for fine.

The operations in maize assumed important proportions in the Once exporters bought up a large quantity of good qualities at 2.60 and 2.90, the yellow at 2.60 and 3.20; in the Riachuelo, the yellow maize was paid at 3.29 and 3.44; in the Catalinas 2.90. In the river ports from 30 to 35000 bags were sold at reserved prices. Later on we heard of a sale of 35,000 bags in La Plata at 3.50 the yellow and 3 and 2.70 the morocho, this maize comes from La Cartorina in Las Flores, the operation was made by one of the most important consignatario firms here. Wheat is firm, another lot of 6000 bags of the old crop was sold at 7.30; a sale of some damp wheat of the new crop was reported in the Once at 6.80. In Rosario we hear that a 1,000 tons in waggon were sold at 6 80 and a parcel of 250 tons, bought by a miller at the same price. Two lots of barley were also sold at 3.70 and 3.80. New hay in small bales was quoted at $30 the 1,000 kilos.

At a late hour we heard that 2,600 bags of maize were sold in the Catalinas at $3, and a lot of old wheat in Barracas at $8 per 100 kilos.

The following is the stock on hand in the Catalinas:—

A few sales were reported, from Rosario in wheat. The market rates are 6.40 and 6.80, whereas colonists ask 6.70 and 6.75, parcels on hand are sold at 6.80; a small lot of 550 quintals of superior new wheat was sold at 6.80 and another of 1,500 do to be delivered during February at 6.50. The general opinion is that the crop this year will have from 25 to 30% "merma", and for this reason owners of the good article maintain that prices must rise; as exporters have already chartered vessels to meet their engagements, they will be obliged to buy at any sacrifice.

Maize has been dead so long that we were startled when we heard of a sale of 2,000 quintals of yellow maize at 3.25; deficient qualities are not even looked at. Owing to the damages caused by the past rains, owners of good linseed are pretty stiff in their demands; one colonist asked for a lot of 600 quintals 11 dollars, we did not hear of any other important transaction. holders are convinced that the crop will be smaller this year than in the previous ones. The linseed this year ripened quicker than usual, and as the rain fell the seed fell from the ears, only leaving the stalks.

Old wheat is putting on a firmer aspect in the Montevideo markets; this it easily understood when we consider that the new is fast supplanting the past one, owners of the last article have to sell as soon as possible on account of the pressure of the new corn. The drawback to business is the persistent absence of millers, who when obliged to buy, restrict themselves just to what they require to meet their contracts; for some small parcels 1.95, 2.10 and 2.25 were paid. Prices in maize are as slack as the demand, a few bags were sold at 80 cents; 1,650 kilos of bird seed were sold at 30 cents the 10 kilos. The demand for salted hides still exists, but no business is done owing to the small stock on hand and the exorbitant prices asked by saladeristas.

Mr. J.B. Suburu, of Concordia has chartered a Spanish vessel Inda, to load 275,640 kilos of jerked beef for Cuba, at 54 cents the 50 kilos.

Operations in wool were insignificant, in fact very little interest was noticed on the part of exporters, from 1,000 to 1,500 bundles of good wool were sold in a barraca at 2.70 and 2.75; in the station and deposits the following business was done: 40,000 kilos from Salto at 2.10, 2,000 do from San Carlos at 2.15, the other sales were more or less 11,000 kilos at prices from 2.05 to 2.15 per 10 kilos.

"The bright, moving picture of the country's trade, commerce and production on the opening year consoles us with the conviction that its future is superior to human error and independent of individual influence."

The above lines, quoted from THE STANDARD of 3rd inst., are the true expression of our sentiments respecting the present position and expected future of the country, if we are to judge from what has occurred to us, as a minute fraction in its common wealth, during the year that has expired, and the hopeful advent of the new ene on which we have entered.

If we take our branch of trade, and instance our business in particular, we have to admit that the prospects as regards the country at large are not at all exaggerated in the transcript we have made us of, as the increase in our concern has been beyond our most sanguine expectations during the old year, and, on the eve of the new one, promise is given of a very satisfactory augmentation.

To keep pace, therefore, with this hopeful state of affairs we have made amp e provision, and our stock, which is always kept in adequate supply, will be periodically increased with every novelty to meet the increasing requirements of the year.
